

Letter of Advocation for © Ranch

I am 83 years old and live close to © Ranch in the rural hills of our small town Freedom/Delevan area. I have been observing and loving this unique exciting camp, its purpose, and fun time children always experience there, since its' beginning. It was developed and maintained by the Aarum Family. In recent years Wayne Aarum has added and created extraordinary, innovative, interesting facets to integrate past with current programs offering motivation for both wholesome, fun, physical activities and providing Godly learning which is of paramount importance for children today.

My own children attended there many summers and in their late teens worked as puppeteers, cooks, and counselors. My grandchildren love this camp and are always excited to return each summer. It offers such a variety of fun while learning kindness, respectable responsibility and care for others as well as reverence for God.

This Circle C Ranch is a rare and wonderful find; and a great privilege for anyone searching for an appropriate and safe camp for their children and grandchildren.
